

The AT-6

The AT-6 was a common sight over Arizona from 1941-1945. The AT-6 was used by pilots for training in the desert. During World War II, the United States Air Force established many airfields throughout the state of Arizona for the purpose of training pilots and aircrews.