

Bob's Big Boy

Bob's Big Boy began in 1936 as a small restaurant in Glendale, California. Owner Bob Wian made a two-patty hamburger with a special relish and named it the "Big Boy."

The sandwiches were so popular that Wian sold his franchise around the country. In 1950, young people said, "meet me at the Bob" to hang out with friends. Bob's Big Boy was very popular in Phoenix for over 30 years.
